

a. The location of resources can ~~effect~~ affect employment because ~~the~~ people who need the company because they have the resources that they need or are unable to find things because of lack of resources may find it hard and people may lose there jobs because of it.

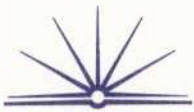

b. Aged are a major group within every community because everybody will become aged and they need a lot of help. Health is a major because they are prone to all different medical need because if they have a fallen, or are just ill for whatever reasons. Financial support because they maybe to old to retire or are medically unfit to work because of injuries.

Sense of identity is another because when you are old you lose your memory, you could get dementia or alzimeza. Which may be a rather frightening part of the aged to forget things.

c. Youth and the unemployed are equality looked at by the government as the same. There management strategies used by the government to address the equity issues of most people who may of left school and haven't bother to find a job or who just can't be bothered and are just getting money for doing nothing. Whereas, the aged and the chronically ill need the government as they help them. They are unable to support themselves, and can't get a job for medical reasons and other reasons where they don't bludge, they still don't get the needs and resources that are need, where the youth and the unemployed do.