

Question 17 - Parenting

A-

Two rights of children are to have their freedom and <sup>good</sup> Health. These both contribute to children's wellbeing because children have the right to be able to have freedom to play with their friends go out and have fun just like their parents.

They also have the right to have good health.

Eat right abit of junk every now and then to have the exercise to keep healthy.

This can also ~~stop~~ stop them from getting illness.

B-

The service I studied was an early child care centre this supports individuals in their role as parents and carers because it gives the child and parents time to them self and also gives the child time to play and learn things different to what the parent teaches them. also if the parents work they know there child is in a safe place. and also financial if a single parent needs to work there are child care services.

C-

Fostering.

Fostering is like having a child of your own but you could only have the child for a few days, weeks, etc they they go back to their own parents. Factors

Influencing parenting and caring relationships within this family situation is to look after the child as a parent and care for the child until they can go back to their own parents.

This form of social parenting can be hard if the foster parents get too attached because the child must go to their own parents.
