

Dear Mr Somerville, After readir victing your inspiring cartoon in the Sydney Morning Herald last thursday, I have been there intriqued by it. I believe that it is important for our Society to stop being over whelmed with Politics and other con self inflicted concerns and book aroun open to eyes to look around at the paradisc we have turned into a battle field. It is time to more in a different direction! The world is constantly moving towards tech nological advancement and believe that sorther com solve their problems through it's use. Their wrong matrice approach is explicitly evident in the piling up of concerns. The weapons of mass destruction" so modestly reffered to by president Bush are the perfect example of what the world has come to. As we find ourselves in a muddy, cold and violent battlefield of life, we borget the garden it My Kersonal opinions have been langely triggened by year cartoon. I'd water up at live thirty everymoning to a piercingsaleur. clock before leaving my high rising apartment block in my car. After a good live to six ours on my tempeter at the effice with its beauring down at me, I would get up to buy my sixth coffee he the day. This life style has become unbearable, and I wasn't amone of what lacked in my life, until I reflected on the past, a time when I telt at ease. After seeine your contoon I realized it was nature and tradition which we deeply luck in todays society. It many more common people like mejself, who have been consumed and accept the lifestyle of today are made aware of the enthusiasm passion and love of life we have lost, there men it many slowly direct Das people bowards new goals. The My husband and I are necycling now. I guess Marts as the largest contribution to our nature people are ready to medie. I now realize (needing back over the letter) that I trave star have come to accept that the difficulties in changing peoples views and lifestyles. Though I was prepared to take this a for change in my life to attitude and ask people to join me in advancing taking life back to it's pure, set natural som ways, but I must accept the difficulty and impossibility of it. There have, all we have teft are inspirations liter such as The little contoons we often schoose to ignove on the "spile" page of the newspaper, to make that one person change their attitude, by reflecting on the past and companing it to The present. Thank you for trying be malel a difference. regards, P. Horis
