

One Person's truth is...

Good evening ladies and gentlemen. When a person sets^s out to ~~the~~ tell the truth, that person is more than likely to have established a sense that to tell a truth, we must find the facts to do so. But as we know, in Accur-ent Affairs ~~the~~ programs, they don't exactly tell it how it is. Don't get me wrong, I'm not putting down the programs but the truth must be told. To prove my point The Show Frontline' host by Mike Moore shows the liar side of it. In two cases the story's "The Siege" and "Add sex and stir" both of them have been a blatant lie. I will address this crowd and explain what they have lied about.

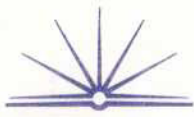

In "The Siege" ladies and gentlemen, the story is about a Gunman who has taken his daughter and son hostage. The team have taken full advantage and have already sent ^{Martin}

~~Mattawa~~ to scene. He couldn't get clear images of the farmhouse so he decides to get aerial images due to police presence. Meanwhile Emma has found out the number to the farmhouse and decides to call it. She asks

"Gavin, are you prepared to give an interview" we'd be happy to hear you side of the story.

He accepts and gives the interview. Meanwhile back at the scene 'Martin' has decided to make it look like a 'Rambo situation' He then dramatises the situation make it look like as if he is only metres away from the house but really he is only ~~5~~ five kilometres away. Its funny how they do this because when say the 'sunday show' goes into ~~the~~ palestine don't they show

That they claim to live. I mean it is pretty obvious that without these sort of programmes, our lives would be boring, we'd have nothing to talk about and eventually we would go crazy.

In my perspective, I would like to see live-to-air television because when ever there is a situation that is dangerous, life becomes one of fear and anger. We see this by the news, magazines and even movies who play out a role of danger in our society.
