Question 16 (continued)

- (b) Account for the distribution of agricultural land use in the South Island of New Zealand. 4

The east side of the southern island is the most used land for agriculture being predominantly used for Extensive livestock and mixed crops and livestock this is because the rainfall in these parts are not as frequent or heavy and the land is at or below sea level so it is flatter and not as hilly. The major cities of Christchurch and Dunedin are also here.
