

- World cities play the most important role in connecting the world together.
- They hold all the world's trading information.
- All trading is done in world cities
- The three world cities are London, New York and Tokyo.
- These cities link all the megacities together and review their status.