

2) An overtrained athlete would have the physiological characteristics of being, constantly tired, they may be unhappy to return to sport. A drop in their school grades if a student. They may not be nice to hang around with.

Overtraining could cause weightloss and the athlete may reach their peak before time, therefore burning them out which will cause them to dislike their activity.