

Start here.

As many ~~Best~~ developing countries hold the greatest number of Islamic followers, these are the countries that hold the greatest amount of conflict within them. As Islam is a demanding belief system & holds strong values, customs & belief & with the amount of globalisation the world is dealing with these norms can be rejected. An example of this could be that within Australia, the smaller traditional towns reject this religion as it is seen as different. With the tradition head dresses & clothes that some Islamic followers wear makes them stand out, and sometimes this can lead to conflict as others do not accept this.

In recent times, due to globalisation, with more Islamic followers moving to Australia & as the religion continues to grow, there has been much conflict as these communities reject the thought of building temples & schools for the religion. There has been many court cases & petitions to fight this religion off.

However with the idea of peace, the Islamic people want this very much. As the religion of Islam is much about helping the needy & giving, it is thought of as a very peaceful belief system. As said before that the origin of Islam comes from developing countries that contain a lot of war & conflict, the religion is helping to bring people together with prayer. With the number of Islamic followers continues to grow, it is bring peace as many of the followers devote their life to prayer. If within this religion you do something out of the norm their can be great consequences to come with it.

Additional writing space on back page.