

A

Question Part

Marriage which is a significant practice in Judaism holds ~~my~~ many reasons with the ritual being performed as it is known in the bible Genesis "Go forth & Multiply" this word of the lord is being fulfilled as two people are joining each other's lives where they may breed their own children. This is also an initiation where a couple can be introduced into the Jewish Community as it can be known to many people that they are fulfilling the word of the lord.

Bi

Question Part

The Hassidic movement revitalised many wayward Jews after the pogroms & ~~massacres~~ massacres they had suffered. There was a new sense of spiritual revitalisation. As Judaism was losing many numbers, this kept numbers flowing constantly & put back joy into the religion of Judaism. Also through this movement the 'Besht' known as the revivifier of Judaism gave his 10 principles, as these were made ~~so~~ specifically for present day ~~times~~ times to suit the religious environment of today. These were guidelines.

bii

Question Part

The Hassidic movement & Hassidic philosophy had a great impact on Judaism as this help revolutionised Judaism towards present day ~~times~~ times. Through the Hassidic movement this introduced that of the ~~Best~~ 'Bescht' which introduced new ways in which such ~~part~~ aspects known as prayer, & joy, & eschatological movements can be put back into that of ~~the~~ Judaism. The "Bescht" & wanted to ~~introduce~~ integrate these aspects into the everyday lives of Jews. As it is known the 613 Mitzvoth ~~is~~ are ethical guidelines on how a Jew must live ~~there~~ their life's, this was made easier as too many Jews were finding it hard to cope with all these guidelines so the 'Bescht' gave out his 10 principles. Also through the Hassidic philosophy the religion of Judaism was given ~~four~~ four philosophical goals in which the 'Bescht' fulfilled that of revival, refinement, piety & domestication & through these goals adherents were given a new sense of spiritual revitalisation & kept numbers flowing constantly.