

One thing that ^{the} Christianity and the Islamic religions have in common, is that the understanding of peace & their religious beliefs are expressed ~~the~~ through sacred texts which are the Bible & the Qur'an.

However, even though they are both sacred texts their teachings are expressed in very different forms of prayer, ceremonial ~~and~~ traditions & understandings.

The Christianity symbol being and representation being the 'bible', expresses peace in a holy & fair way. It contains teachings ~~that~~ of 'have ~~you~~ ^{thy} neighbour as yourself,' meaning even if you dislike an individual, still treat them with respect & treat them ~~you~~ as you would prefer to be treated. If each person follows this commandment

Peace ~~and~~ between individuals, families & friends should be a normal & easy way of living.

The Bible also contains teachings ^{that} ~~and~~, even though it is believed by Christians that Christianity teaching are the right way, cruel remarks, violence or any other sort of unfair or cruel actions & behaviour towards other races, cultures, or religions is considered sinful & unchristian like behaviour. ~~We are~~ It is expressed through sacred texts that ~~we~~ Christians need to accept other people who are different from themselves no matter what & treat everyone equally.

The Qur'an ~~is~~ contains similar ~~understanding~~ understanding & teachings on the concept of peace. ~~It~~ It is expressed through the Qur'an that Islam is the right way.

however they also follow the rule of disrespecting other religions & cultures is sinful & must not happen.
