Question Part

The one practice I chose within Judaism and I think is most significant is Marriage. Marriage is also taken place in most religions because it is the celebration of a couple coming together to be husband and wife in the synagogue.

b (i)

Question Part

The contribution to Judaism of a male is more significant than a female because males experience things like Bar mitzvahs. This is when ~~the Judaism~~ the Jewish celebrate a 13 year old boys life because they think that he is old enough now to be a man.

b (ii)

Question Part

The impact on Judaism of the significant person I chose in part (b)(i) is the bar mitzvah and the reason why I chose this ceremony is because I think it has the most significance in a male's life. The bar mitzvah is sort of like a baptism for Christianity. It's a celebration for a new life from a child to a man. This celebration is taken place when the male has turned 13. They think when the male has turned 13 he is old enough to be considered a man.
