

3 Assess the effect of time on the practice of Artists.

Time has a major and extensive effect on the practice of Artists. Time goes by and years go on, in this time Artists see many trends, and these trends are influenced in their works. Over time artists can create a large collection of works. Frida Kahlo, an artist of surrealism created self portraits with influences from her life and the problems she went through. Kahlo focused a lot on her culture and symbolism to show the audience the pain and suffering. For example - a tear on her cheek showed sadness, and the hair on her face showed masculinity. ~~Time~~ Time effected the strength of her work, it showed the love for her husband, but over time this turned to resentment.

Salvador Dali, another artist interested in Surrealism, paints dream like photographs ~~images~~^{images} that almost look like hallucinations. Salvador Dali seemed to be so effected by time that in his work he would paint clocks, ~~the~~ clocks where drapped over branches of trees or laying on things as though they had just been washed. My impression is that he was washing away time and hanging it out to dry.

The individual practices their work over periods of time ~~that~~ and their work inflicts meaning to them.

Art has changed over thousands of years. Artists have been effected by ~~new~~ new and old practices. ~~At~~ Modern Artwork viewed today has very different qualities compared to Art works ~~of~~ ~~like~~ like the Aboriginal dreamtime paintings and bible illustrations etc.

Modern Artwork is now ~~used~~ formed with different media's such as photography. There is ~~not~~ need for painting and portraits if you can use a camera and get the exact picture.

Cindy Sherman a postmodern artist of the 1980's ~~specialises~~ specialises in self portraits and film stills. She uses props such as wigs, make up, ~~and~~ prosthetic limbs and Manikins to recreate ~~portraits~~ Famous portraits.

Over time the work of early day Artists ~~*~~ (eg Michaelangelo) work has been recreated with postmodernism and new effects and medias influenced by the past history Artists

Time effects the practise of Artist through Technology and change.
