

4)

a) And from a distance he cried out, 'Oh wretched citizens, what great insanity do you have? Do you trust the enemy has sailed away? Or do you think the gifts of the Greeks are lacking in trickery? This Ulysses known? Or have the Greeks killed in lines, or has this machine been made on our walls, to spy on our homes and to come down on the city from above, or does some other deception lay hidden; do not trust the horse Trojans...'
