 (b) auribus, oculis
 (c) ~~is~~ from where they have come: "ab amicissimis civitatibus" what they brought "cum publicis auctoritatibus" (d) Now ~~they~~ that most daring and ~~bitter~~ most bitter man thinks this.

He understands that I come ~~with~~ having been prepared ~~preparation~~ and ~~having been instructed~~ <sup>into the</sup> instruction & ~~instruction~~ to ~~the~~
 the court
 court, ~~so~~ that in such a way that, not only in your ears, but also in the eyes of all, his shame and theft will be fixed. He will see many Senators be witnesses of his audacity; he will see many groups of Roman knights moreover citizens and allies, <sup>to</sup> whom he himself ~~had~~ will have made unfair a decision. He will then even see so many serious legates ~~from the friendliest states~~ ~~when they have come together with~~ ~~public authority~~ to have come together with public documents from the friendliest states.
