a). This was the truth: if that true pirate was crucified, you would not have that money; if this false one was dead or imprisoned, it would not be difficult to execute him in his place. I have said more than I intended about that pirate captain, and however there are certain arguments which are involved with this crime.

b). That Gavius, who you say to be an unreliable witness, claims to have been thrown in the stone quarries of Syracuse by you, that was neither alone from the prison but seen by Syracusans. You are not able to say to me, this is another Gavius who was in the prison, ~~this name~~ to explain this name, in order to ~~say~~ be able to say that this is him, but I ~~see~~ allow you to choose a witness who will say that this man was thrown into the Syracusan stone quarries by you.
